To establish and grow a socially responsible enterprise that offers high quality products and services and contributes to the general upliftment of society, specifically by generating gainful employment for rural women and empowering them through social and financial independence.

Bringing the Village to the World

I Village brings to you products of contemporary use in soft furnishing, home decor, clothing and gifting that are manufactured using traditional Indian techniques, skills and hand-based processes.

These products are manufactured by women in the villages of Anupshahr (Dist. Bulandshahr), as part of our resolve as a social enterprise to empower them through social and financial independence.

I Village is closely associated with Pardada Pardadi Educational Society, which has been working tirelessly for rural empowerment for over 15 years providing free education to over 1500 girls from villages in the district.

When you buy an I Village product, you partake in our vision and inspire us to continue on our path to build a stronger society. You become part of our family... the I Village Family.

PPES - an NGO

I Village was born out of the great work started by Mr. Virender Sam Singh when he established the NGO Pardada Pardadi Educational Society 15 years ago. It is their tireless work towards educating the girl child in the rural belt of UP that has now resulted in a whole generation of young educated women ready to join the workforce and contribute to society.

I Village - a Social Enterprise

These young minds have understood the importance of financial independence to create their own identity and break from all social stigmas. I Village started as a means for these young women to have opportunities for gainful employment and to experience a whole world of possibilities waiting for them.
